

Istation Goes Home for the Holidays

Tips for Home Usage

Istation

Istation Home is a great way to extend your students' classroom learning over the holidays! Your students can continue their personalized learning path at home to ensure retention of skills they have learned this year. Students who work in Istation at home have shown more growth in their reading skills than students who do not.

Here are sample Istation Home calendars you can use as a guide when encouraging your students to work in Istation over the holidays.

Grades Pre-K-2:

Monday	Tuesday	Wednesday	Thursday	Friday
 Reading with ISIP		 Ipractice		 Books
 Reading with ISIP		 Books		 Ipractice

Grades 3-8:

Monday	Tuesday	Wednesday	Thursday	Friday
 Reading with ISIP		 Writing		 Books
 Reading with ISIP		 Assignments		 Ipractice

Usage contests are a great way to motivate students to continue their learning over the holidays. Two reports great for tracking a usage contest are the Usage Trend Report and the Recent Weekly Usage Export.

- Usage Trend Report: This report can be edited to show home-only minutes so teachers and managers can monitor Istation Home usage.
- Recent Weekly Usage Export: This export shows the last four weeks of Istation usage. It is a great resource to use when conducting campus-wide contests for Istation usage.

Parents may go to Istation's Parent Portal to view a variety of support materials, reports, and activities to help reinforce learning at home. Click here to access our Istation Home for Parents document.
